Apparently they had been taught at the school provided. Makes us wonder what was to rope-skipping and watch as pastimes for girls.

ISN'T difficult to see how badly bad sections of bills through the legislature. Tuesday night, Assemblyman Knox summarized the before the committee. Comments, many of whom dividing their time between Albany Finance and another meeting upstairs, came, hearing only part of discussion. This included questions about various and what they meant. The voting was not clear except for one hand vote.

Council Authorizes New Bids for Tree Program

Albany City Council Monday night decided to proceed with the street tree program, drawing up new specifications and again calling for bids.

The matter was referred back to the Park and Recreation department several weeks ago after many residents protested scheduled removal of trees.

A new survey indicates 77 residents wish trees removed and 31 would like to keep the trees if possible. Some of the latter may be repaired.

The new program is three-fold: planting, removal and repair of trees.

Mary Jones of 841 Key Route Blvd., submitted a bill for $189 from a plumber called when her sewer backed up. It was discovered hours later that the blockage was in the city sewer. Although Council denied the claim and referred it to the City Attorney, Administrative Officer and Insurance carrier, members were sympathetic and indicated they feel Mrs. Jones and others inconvenienced because of inadequate city sewers should be reimbursed.

Police Chief Ralph Jensen received permission to add a fingerprint course taught by Officer Jim Simmons to those accepted for incentive pay.

A letter from Frances Rector of 1003 Curtis complaining about an acacia tree was referred to the P&R department.

A request for information regarding the budget as it affects the pension fund was referred to the budget committee.

Council approved the City of Alameda's request for support in obtaining a commemorative stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the arrival in Alameda of the first transcontinental passenger train.

Following a public hearing, in which there were no written or oral protests, Council authorized proceeding with the annual weed burning program.

Resolutions approved urged federal funding for library construction and services and amending a 1965 resolution by deletion of two sections.

Disposal of household wastes after the backyard burning ban becomes effective Jan. 1, 1970, was discussed. The Air Pollution Control district suggested multiple chamber natural gas incinerators, hauling to the landfill, residential collection (in Albany a second garbage can costs only

Elementary School Open House, Program Attract Many Parents

About 250 parents toured the Albany Elementary Summer school at its open house last Wednesday and another 400 persons attended the special music, drama, and folk dancing programs on Thursday night.

Those touring the open house saw some innovative teaching being tried. Mrs. Laura Potts, Jack Rozance and Mrs. Linda Nelson teaching math and English had set up several learning centers in the auditorium for their fourth through seventh grade students to use. A similar method was used by three first grade teachers working together at Marin and two third grade teachers working together at MacGregor. The cafeteria was used as an art room where the students could dye fabrics, make mobiles, do wire sculpture, make paper mache figures, draw and paint.

In addition to the regular summer school teachers, teaching assistants, student teachers, a number of high school students volunteered their time for the summer. There were Sue Holmgren, office; Bob Dill, Ken Fine, Liz Jacobson, Debbie Muir, first grade; Jim Wallmann, Stuart Hoffman, audio visual; Lavonne Smith, arts and crafts; Diane Van Wyck, dramatics; Cheryl Holstein, Celeste Johnson, library; Debra Harvey, third grade; Fritz Laura, Christine Tom, Anne Nakao, orchestra, all from Albany. From El Cerrito High school were Tenley Martinez, English and math; Mark Steinfeld, third grade. Albany High school graduate Robie Ebey helped out in second grade.

Weed Burning Notice Given

Fire Chief Gerald D. Browne has announced that the Annual Weed Abatement program will begin Tuesday, Aug. 5, and continue until completed.

Albany Hill is the anticipated first area to be burned. All empty lots will be cleared by burning. Chief Browne stated that anyone wishing to burn off their own property may do so after first obtaining a permit from the Fire Prevention Bureau.

This open burning period has been allowed by special permit from the Air Pollution Control District and the permissible time expires Aug. 31. Weed Abatement crews are expected to complete their work in about seven days.

Citizens are cautioned to be sure to close windows and to keep washing from off their lines when crews are in their area. Crews cooperate in every way, sometimes by taking the washing from clothes lines, but this is not always possible.

This program is in compliance with regulations as set forth in the Albany Municipal Code.

Senate Finance Committee Exempts Albany Project

Mayor Richard O. Clark announced Monday night that the State Senate will vote on AB 2057 concerning the Bay Conservation and Development Commission at 10 a.m. today, Wednesday.

He said Senator Richard Dolwig has indicated he will attempt to put back into the bill the three amendments made by the Senate Finance committee (see following story).

Clark predicted a close vote on the measure.

The mayor said conservation groups, for which he has much respect, are using the "big lie" technique in their propaganda on radio and TV and in the newspapers.

Clark said there is talk of constructing a parking lot on Albany bayfill. He stressed that Albany's specific plan, which follows the guidelines of the BCDC master plan, is quite different.

Council voted unanimously in favor of sending a thank-you letter to Senate Finance Committee Chairman Randolph Collier and members of the committee for their favorable action on behalf of Albany.

In the discussion, Councilman Lewis Howell remarked he had heard the chairman of the Albany Bay Committee say on TV that he is in favor of the Albany plan but does not trust Albany to provide a recreation program.

Councilman Joe Carlevaro expressed alarm over creating another taxing body in BCDC.

Albany city officials attending the Senate Finance committee hearing on a "strong" Bay Conservation and Development commission bill in Sacramento last Tuesday night could scarcely contain their elation over the amendments made before the bill received a "do pass" vote.

The first amendment, proposed by Sen. Alan Short, would permit Albany to continue with its waterfront development, Albany Isles. Another, proposed by Sen. Nick Petris, would allow Emeryville to do the same. The third, first rejected and then adopted, (Continued on Page 3)

SENATOR SHERMAN ASKS HAYWARD STATE PROBE

A resolution calling for an investigation of the alleged violence at Hayward State College has been introduced by Senator Lewis F. Sherman of Alameda County. Recent reported incidents have caused quite a lot of concern about the safety of students and professors at that institution.

"This proposed investigation," said Senator Sherman, "is not an indictment of anyone but stems from a desire to learn the truth of underlying charges and counter-charges which have been made to the news media. The general public holds us in the Legislature responsible for the operation of the public institutions, and even though the authority is delegated to a Board of Trustees, we do have the ultimate responsibility."

"The reported episodes of violence in Hayward present to us serious questions as to the security provided teachers and students, the reluctance to call on

Local Group at Odds With Regional Government Police Plan

Albany Support Your Local Police Committee has attacked regional government proposals to recognize police departments as "a huge step in creating a national police force."

Regionalization of police departments is a part of, or inferred, in several bills before the Legislature aiming at regional government in the Bay Area.

Albany SYLP Committee Chairman Thomas Tallarico warned that the regionalization of police forces "would not only reduce police effectiveness and control, but would be a huge step toward creating a national police force." Noting that the police component of the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) program, one of several regional governments proposals sent to Sacramento, would be financed with federal money, Tallarico added:

THE SECURITY KNIGHT STRIKES AGAIN!

Let Security draw you a picture of how to get a 6% interest yield on your savings — or — 5 1/4% interest every 90 days.

Here is all you have to do:

1. First, come in to one of Security's nine Bay Area branches and open one of the new 6%, five-year accounts. We will take care of the details, including free transfer of funds.

This new account guarantees you a minimum 5 1/4% interest rate for the five years that your money is on deposit. That 5 1/4% left in your account to accumulate during the five years, provides you an average annual interest yield of 6%.

If you're mathematically inclined, the equation would break out like this:

Deposited: $3,845.70 × 5 1/4% interest rate, compounded daily, for five years = $5,000.

Thus, you've earned $1,154.30 interest on your investment of $3,845.70.

2. But here is still another pretty picture ... If you would rather have regular "dividends" on your investment, Security can mail your 5 1/4% interest checks every 90 days.

3. Okay, you say, what's the catch? Well, there are a couple of things. These accounts can be opened only for deposits of $1,000 or more. Further, the principal can be withdrawn only in cases of emergency, subject to mutual agreement between you and our branch manager. If withdrawals are made at the end of a quarter, however, you lose no interest on the amount withdrawn.

4. The 5 1/4% guaranteed interest rate is available in 3, 4 and 5-year terms.

5. Finally, if you prefer savings accounts where you can make regular deposits or have "instant" withdrawal privileges, come in anyway. Security pays 5% interest on all regular accounts from the date of deposit to the date of withdrawal — even if your money is only with us for one day.

So there you have it: 5%, 5 1/4%, even 6% accounts. A pretty picture, eh? Color them green. And by the way, when you talk to our branch manager — either today or tomorrow, we hope — ask about our many free services. After all, there's an art to our success.

All branches open 9 to 4 Monday through Thursday, 9 to 6 on Fridays

BCDC jurisdiction over the foot strip around the Bay's shoreline. Details of the bill were presented by Assemblyman John Knox, who held questions regarding the foot control, possible cost to California taxpayers resulting from possible condemnation expropriation and lawsuits, and the possibility for "a zoning entity on another zoning entity." Knox contended shoreline regulations would be no worse for property owners than present zoning rules. At least one committee member felt the difference would be that a local zoning board would be sensitive to the rights of the people in the community while BCDC might not have that sensitivity. The hearing was called to discontinue by Knox, Sen. Richard J. Milner, Sen. Milton Marks and Nicholas Petris. Witnesses were permitted to present their views. Chairman Randolph Collier, opened the meeting by telling the overflow audience that the bill would be considered for removal from the chamber. At the outset, there had been cheers for Knox, Petris and other pro-Save the Bay leaders as they arrived and boos and hisses when anyone considered against strong legislation appeared. Busloads of Save-the-Bay proponents came from the Bay Area, many carrying placards. Under questioning, Knox said he favors a totally elected rather than appointed 27-member BCDC board. In answer to other questions, he said he did not intend to eliminate restaurants and hotels on the waterfront, although they were not included in the bill's list of acceptable water-oriented uses. Senator Short, in presenting the "Albany amendment" said he does not feel it is strong enough, that the committee should recommend that Albany's plan be adopted by BCDC. Knox spoke against the amendment on the grounds that "everybody should be treated the same." He also spoke against other amendments. After the meeting, he said he was "bitterly disappointed." The appearance of Petris, "father of BCDC," to make the Emeryville amendment caused a flurry in the hearing room. He admitted, "My conservationist friends will be unhappy." Petris said the people of Emeryville, as well as those of Albany, had been assured in 1965 that they would be "grandfathered out" of the original legislation, the McAttee-Petris Act, which created BCDC. Both cities have had lawsuits brought against them. Emeryville lost in Supreme Court and had to stop filling. Although there are other hurdles before the fate of BCDC, the amount of control it will have and the fill projects of Emeryville and Albany are determined and signed into law by the Governor; last Tuesday night was a night of satisfaction for Albany Mayor Richard Clark, Councilmen H. F. Call and Joe Carlevaro and Administrative Officer James B. Turner.

The Times: Albany City tax rate last year was $1.68 per $100. According to the Berkeley Gazette, for 1969-70, the tax rate antici- pated for 1969-70 is $1.67—"two cents under the 1968-69 tax."

Without offering any judge- ment on the validity of various items in the proposed Budgets, the Albany taxpayers in the real increase which was proposed. As a basis for comparison, the 1968-69 tax rate should be reduced by 15% because of the increased assess- ment. The comparative base for 1968-69 is $1.436. Any increase over $1.436 is a tax in- crease. Hence the proposed $1.67 is "two cents under." It is not twenty three cents more than last year. It will pro- duce 13.6% more revenue.

The same reasoning holds for school tax which was $5.313 in 1968-69. The comparative base figure is $4.51. Any tax rate over $4.51 is a tax increase. The proposed $5.47 is not 10 cents higher—but 96 cents higher than last year!

The City of Albany is propos- ing to increase its tax bill by 13.6%. The reason for saying "my tax bill" is that the above figures were taken from my 1968-69 tax bill and my new assessment. Others may differ slightly.

The City Council may be able to justify the increase. I am sure they will try. All I ask is that they speak of it as an increase—not "two cents under last year."

Copy of letter to Paul H. Hurych:

I should like to offer my sin- cere thanks for the outstanding volunteer work you have pro- vided the Albany Junior Traffic Patrol.

Through the generous donation of your time (with the kind co- operation of your employer), all the Albany school children have benefited. Your extensive knowl- edge of school traffic problems and the various solutions thereof by a well planned safety program have alerted our youngsters and the community at large to their many responsibilities.

It is with a hearty handshake of friendship from the City of Albany that I thank you for a job well done.

SENIOR CITIZENS

846 Masonic Ave.

By Minnie Ingraham

The gauntlet has been thrown, and by the time this goes to print there will have emerged a new group of champion shuffleboarders. We have been challenged and we cannot take this lying down ... in fact, it would be extremely difficult to indulge in this sport lying down.

We are looking forward with great interest to the return of our sweet and lovely Bessie (Carbis), who has been recuperating at home for several weeks from a disagreeable fall, a very narrow escape from what might have had serious consequences.

And what a glorious achievement we all shared this past fortnight. I say "shared" advisedly, because I doubt if there was anyone watching or listening to that miraculous feat whose heart was not beating a little faster, and whose prayers were not with those grand men day and night. And since we have been granted the permission and glory of setting foot on his firmament can we not try just a little harder to attain peace for mankind, to prove to Him that we are worthy of His grace?

Pinochle instruction Wednesday afternoons; come one, come all, come early enough to share a cup of coffee with us. The bridge players find it cozy to be with us Friday afternoons, and again we say; come one, come all.

Though we are a little beyond the age of indulgence ourselves, we have heard through the children's grapevine that the Day Camps for our youngsters, sponsored by our fine Recreation Department, have this year been marvelous.

Reservations are being taken for our FBI trip, followed by lunch in glamorous Cathay House in Chinatown in San Francisco. If Chinese food is not your dish, we can arrange for American food for you. We are knitting lap robes for Oak Knoll hospital, and would be happy to have you join us, or to accept any yarn you are not using. These are for the paraplegics, as they await a fitting for missing limbs. Don't forget the Ogleby party August 5t. Call 526-1601 for reservations for a fine catered luncheon followed by two hours of play and prizes.

Are there any chess players in this town? Would you like to start a chess tournament? Or would you rather try dominoes? No, Chester, horse racing is not allowed on Masonic Avenue.

Good news from the people collecting Betty Crocker coupons. They've reached their objective of 630,000, and the wonderful machine will soon be at work in one of our hospitals. Keep saving your coupons ... I'm sure there will be another drive for something as worthwhile as this was.

Recreation Dept. Awards Trophies

Bowling in the final games of the first session for the Albany Recreation Day Camp program were 24 youngsters from the Albany area.

Receiving trophies for their effort were the following youngsters: High Series: Sheryl Lawless (125) and Dennis Daum (170).

High Games bowled were: 1st Andy Gickerson (99), Vicky Perry (94) and Mike O'Sullivan (93).

Next session will start Aug. 4.

Petting Zoo at Plaza

Jett's Petting Zoo will be at El Cerrito Plaza Shopping Center the week of Aug. 4-10. It features more than 50 animals such as a baby elephant, ant eater, tapir, llama and many others. They have been tamed and children may pet and feed them in a spotless corral. Three kiddie rides are also to be available.

Although the cost of living is up 183% since 1935, typical PG&E gas and electric rates are down 13.9%.

Of course your PG&E bill is bigger now because you use more gas and electricity for the comforts and conveniences of modern living.

This house is worth three times its 1935 value, but today costs less to light and heat.

New Headquarters

IN VIETNAM

Marine Corporal Larry G. Tracey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Tracey of 1125 Neilson St., Albany, is serving with the First Marine Division in Vietnam. The mission of the First Marine Division is to find the enemy forces and destroy their capabilities to exist in the Southern I Corps area.

Metal Sculpture At City Library

An exhibit of metal sculpture by Pearl Johnson is housed in the outside cabinets of the Albany Library during the month of July.

Mrs. Johnson admits to having turned a hobby of driftwood hunting and metal sculpting into a pleasant and profitable business. Her work is available in Placerville, Jack London Square and Port Costa.

She has received prizes for her work at the Rancho Cordova and Walnut Creek Art Shows. Mrs. Johnson also paints in watercolor and acrylics. She studied at the Albany Adult School and took welding courses at the Junior College in San Pablo.

PG&E GROUNDBREAKING HELD IN RICHMOND

Richmond's Mayor George L. Livingston turned the first shovel of earth July 16 as a ceremony marked the start of construction of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's new Bay District headquarters building in the downtown Richmond redevelopment area.

Other principals in the brief ceremony included Meadie Jackson and William J. Kretzmer, members of the board of directors of the Richmond Redevelopment Agency; E. N. Boyce, president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce; and PG&E District Manager G. C. (Jerry) Stanley of Albany.

The PG&E project will be the first major commercial construction in the city's downtown redevelopment area.

Richmond contractor Clarence Overaa will construct the modern 12,000-square-foot office building for William B. Stenwick of San Francisco, who will lease it to the utility. Stenwick acquired the 24,000-square-foot site from the Redevelopment Agency.

The site is adjacent to the proposed public plaza at the southeast corner of 10th Street and Macdonald Avenue. Entry will be from 10th Street between Macdonald and Bissell Avenues.

Landscaping will include tree and shrubbery plantings and there will be ample parking areas. Designs call for a colonnaded front for the office structure and an exposed aggregate surface for exterior walls. The building will be single-level with the exception of an upstairs lunchroom for employees.

Seventy-five PG&E employees will make their headquarters in the new building, which is expected to be completed late this year. Administrative, customer services, sales and personnel departments will be included.

PG&E's Bay District includes East Bay shoreline communities from Berkeley through Port Costa.

Straka-Briggs Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Darwyn H. Briggs
(Susan Cecile Straka)
—Theo Kann

Formal ceremonies at Northbrae Community church united in marriage Susan Cecile Straka, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Paul Straka of 1456 Thousand Oaks Blvd., and Darwyn Harry Briggs, son of Mrs. Harry L. Briggs of Farmington and the late Mr. Briggs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire gown of silk organza over taffeta appliqued with reembodyered Alencon lace. Lace etched with tiny seed pearls circled the high neckline and ran from the shoulders down the long tapered sheer sleeves. Lace appliques covered the bodice beneath a sheer organza yoke with lace appliques in diagonal design trellised down the sides of the A-line skirt. The lace motif was repeated on the tubular chapel train, caught to the dress by a flat organza bow. Her veil of English illusion fell from an arrangement of petals and pearls. She carried a cascade of phloxenopsis.

Mrs. Arthur Henry of Berkeley was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Michael Collins of Los Angeles, Mrs. Paul Jobst of Walnut Creek and Miss Tayeko Okamoto of San Francisco. They wore pink organza gowns over taffeta with neckline ruffles and ruffle-edged sleeves. Ribbons of magenta velvet circled the high waists and headpieces were three-tier pink organza bows. They carried sprays of long-stemmed pink roses.

Ushering duties were performed by the bridegroom's brother, Donald Briggs of Farmington; the bride's brother, Robert Straka of Concord, and Glen Loomis of Concord.

During the reception at Haver Hall of the church, Mrs. Will Schieder of Oakland presided at the guest book and Susan and Jennifer McNary of Berkeley distributed almond favors.

The mother of the bride wore a beige crepe dress with matching lace coat, pink satin and net hat and pink orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom selected an ice blue silk ensemble trimmed with lace and matching net hat with pink orchid corsage.
